Teachers Look In The

Mr. Carl Brunner - Science, Math
Pennsylvania State University, M. Ed.

Teaching the metric system would be a challenge to me. Students, on the average, have not had much exposure to metrics. Teaching metrics would be similar to teaching a foreign language. A teacher would probably need an entire semester in order to instill in the students the basics of metrics. I have taught metric units consisting of three to four weeks, but I find this is just not enough. Sufficient time should be set aside if you really want to teach metrics correctly.

—Phil Aversa

Mr. Eugene Swain - Science
Frostburg State College, B.S.
University of Maryland, Masters Eq.

I can see no radical change in the mathematics program due to the metric system. Most math textbooks already have included instruction on the metric system, and math teachers currently teach some phase of metrics. We can't go overboard and overlook the fact that the English system will remain in transition for many years.

—Frank Clark

Mrs. Jan Williams - Math
University of Maryland, B.S.

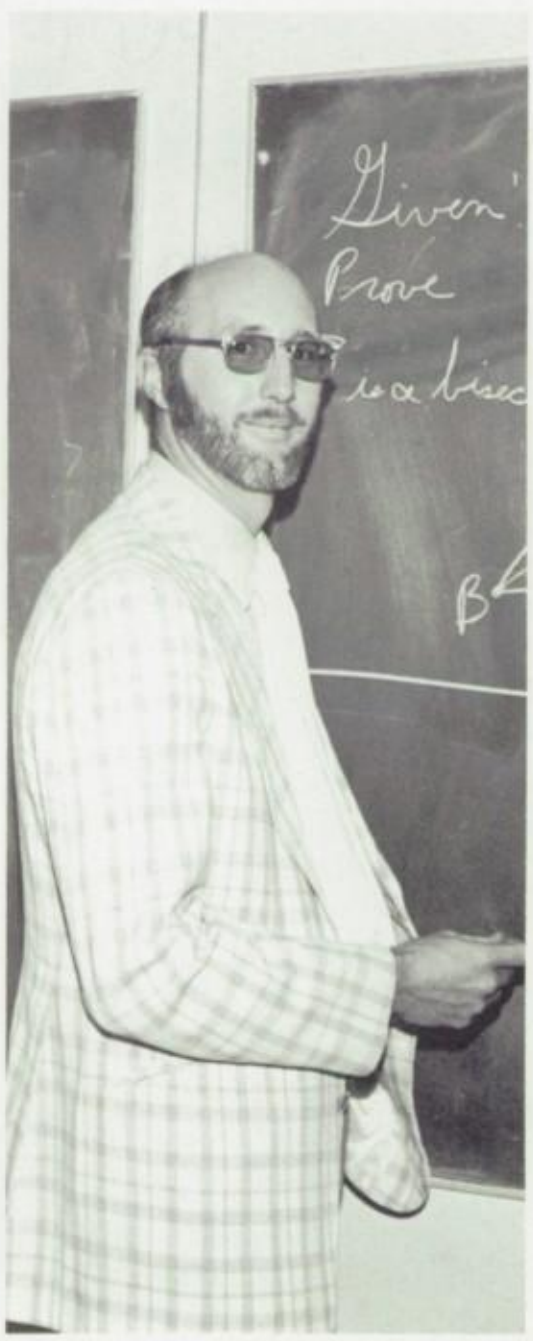
Towards Metrics Eighties

Mr. Mike Terretti - Science
California State College, B.S.

The system used for measuring in physics has been the metric for many years, therefore, no change is now needed.

—Carl Brunner

Mr. George Schamel - Science
Frostburg State College, M. Ed.



Mr. Terry Doub - Math
Shippensburg State College, M.A.

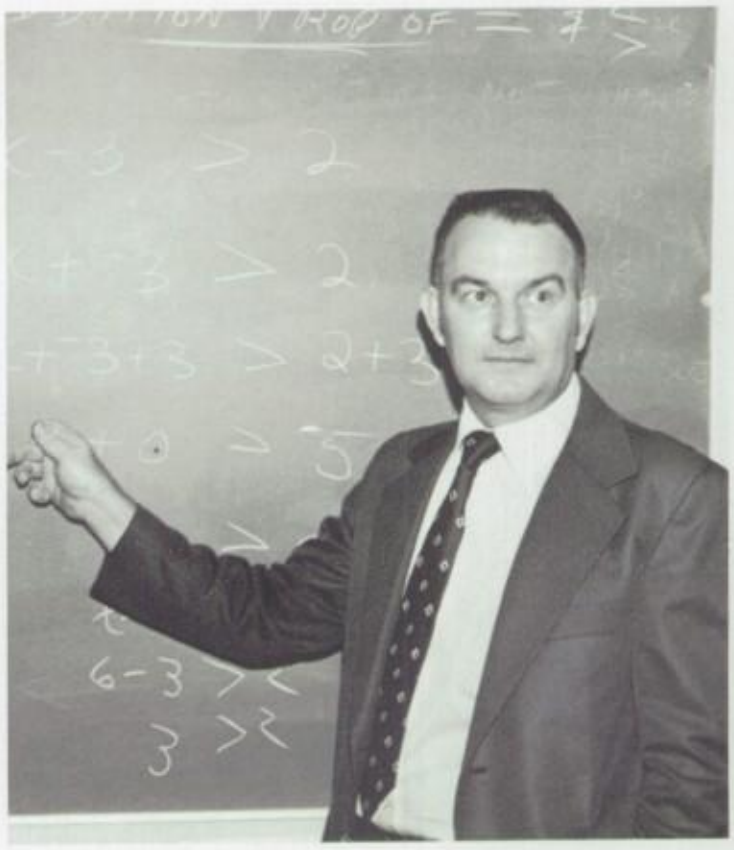
The metric system has been a part of the science curriculum for many years. Without a good knowledge of the metric system, any scientist would find it difficult to understand the previous work or to include his/her own work with that of others. Thus a change to the metric system in the USA would hopefully make science easier for all students.

—Marlyn Buckley

The metric system will not change my method of teaching too much as the field of science is that way already. It will, however, present problems to the students in my classes as they deal with today's English system. The biggest problem will be having them convert to the universal system for everyday use. They seem to think the world should change to our system - THE AMERICAN WAY.

—Eugene Swain

Mr. Phillip Aversa - Math
University of Maryland, B.S.



Mr. Frank Clark - Math
Shepherd College, B.A.
Shippensburg State College, M.A.

Mrs. Francis Kauffman - Science

Seniors Enjoy

The Class of '80, the twenty first graduating class of Boonsboro High School, was considered as a very talented class. Their involvement in school activities and leadership were outstanding.

On the evening of June 2nd, the senior class entered into the gymnasium in their caps and gowns to the tune of "Pomp and Circustance." The senior gift was presented by Darlene Angle. After receiving their honors, the class left with the memories of four great years at BHS.

Barb Palmer utilizes her free time.

Seniors' pride and joy.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Juniors Take Life

The junior class of 1980, advised again this year by Mrs. Pat Lemkuhl, had a year full of excitement, from the Talent Show in January to the prom in May. Unfortunately the evening performance of the Talent Show was cancelled several times, due to inclimate weather. The prom however, with the help of class officers and committee members, was very successful in every way.

Class Officers: D. Beard, Pres.; N. Jenkins, V. Pres.; S. Anderson, Sec.; C. Horne, Treas.

Freshman Leaders Learn

The Class of 1983 entered Boonsbor High School with the usual confusion and anxiery, but quickly adjusted to student life. With the help of their advisor, Mrs. Rose Ulrich, the freshmen held sales to boost their growing treasury. They sold calendars and placemats to raise money for future activities. They also elected officers to lead them for the year. Tina Haupt was the choice for president, Tim Beard won vice-president, Mary Beth Hose was elected secretary and treasurer was Kim Violet.

Defense showed its strong side as Doug Kaufmann and Kirk Stiles each managed forty-two and forty on tackles respectively. Stiles also stole five passes from the offensive game of their opponents.

Cross Country Teams

The girl's cross country team under the direction of Coach Dwight Scott, finished their third successful season with a 3-3 record in dual meets. Their success was the result of long, hard practices and much dedication. Nine girls, headed by captain Ber Kaufmann, started practice on August 15th. They trained along with the boys at various places in the county, as well as on the school course.

The girls were second in the MVAL and they tied the largest school on their schedule, North High, which is a Class A school. A high point of the season was when they returned to defeat Middletown after losing the MVAL championship to them by one point. The squad placed thrid in the District I Class C competition and they captured third place at the state Class C meet.

Led by Captain Wayne Lowery, the eighteen member cross country squad began practicing on August 15th. They trained twice everyday at Greenbrier Park, Antietam Battlefield, and the Appalachian Trail, as well as the course here at Boonsboro.

Dedication and challenging workouts made the 1979 season successful. The varsity squad had a 4-2 record in Dual and Tri meets. They were second in the MVAL and third in the Washington County meet. The junior varsity boys were second in the Frank Keyser Invitational. Another highlight of the year was the upset over North High, the Washington County and District I Class A champs. The Warriors also came back to beat Middletown in a dual meet after being dethroned by them as MVAL champs. To wrap up the season, the squad placed fourth in the District I Class C meet and fifth in the State meet.

Seniors Leave, But Their Records Remain

Eddie Penn scored 1,136 career points, the most ever scored by a Boonsboro player. His 524 points in his senior year set a new single-season scoring mark. One hundred fifty of these points were scored from the free-throw line where Eddie displayed uncanny accuracy-83.3%, another record. At one point in the season, Eddie made 28 straight free-throws.

Coach Wetzel Ends His 20 Year Career

Only a few points made the difference between an average season (8 wins and 14 losses) and what could have been an outstranding season for the 1979-1980 baskerball Warriors. Thirty-five points to be exact. Boonsboro lost 11 games by a total of 35 points. The Warriors lost 3 games by 1 point, 1 game by 2 points, 1 game by 3 points, 3 games by 4 points, and 3 games by 5 points each.
Even though the inexperienced team had trouble as many games got down to the wire, senior Eddie Penn provided fans with many thrills. Eddie broke nearly every scoring record in his three varsity years.

The Warriors had several other star players. Dale Beard led the team with 58 assists and Carroll Holmes displayed a great effort during the season. Carroll led the team with 57 steals, and 6'3", junior, Jeff Rasmussen became the leading rebounder with 176 rebounds.

Coach Bob Wetzel closed out his coaching career at Boonsboro High School following the 1979-1980 season. In 20 years, his Warrior teams posted 221 wins and 213 losses, a record which will stand for a long time.

Short Team Has Big Season

A quick tempo, unselfish offense and a sticky man to man defense characterized Coach Wayne Ridenour's 1979-80 Warrior J.V. basketball team. Although the Warriors had no starters over the six foot mark, the team came away with an 11 and 9 record. Eight of those losses were by 10 or fewer points. A balanced offense in which all five starters scored over 100 points was led by Mike Conway. The leading rebounders were Chris Penn and Darrell Smothers, while Rusty Pearson and Gary Baker led the team in free throw percentage. The team's defense anchored by Todd Marshall, Mike Conway, and Chris Bolton. Bolton also used his outstanding passing skills to lead the team in assists.

The Freshman Basketball Team finished the season with a tremendous record of 10-4. Coach Richard Doggett attributes the success of the squad to hard work all season and a very strong competitive spirit of each player on the team.

Mark Angle led the team in scoring with a total of 140 points. Jerry Ficklin tossed in 131 points, followed by Tim Beard who contributed 129 points for the season. Mark Angle also led the team in rebounds. His team mates, Jair Barr and Tim Beard, followed closely in the rebounding category. A strong defense is important in the game of basketball. Varsity Team Acquires New Coach

Coach Clayton Anders' varsity girls' basketball team ended their regular season with an 8-15 record. The squad qualified for the regional tournament by winning three of four games at the end of the season. The Varsity Warriorettes handled the ball superbly and had several star players. Ber Kaufmann led the team in scoring with a 10.8 per game average and scored 249 points during the season. Ber was given Honorable Mention in the MVAL and All-County teams. The leading rebounder was Sandy Anderson with 221 rebounds. Sandy had a 10.0 point per game average and was also an Honorable Mention in All-County. J.V.'s Have Excellent Year

Christie Wilt came out on top this year in scoring for the junior varsity squad. She had a total of 171 points. Wilt also was the leader in assists and steals, having 66 and 93 respectively. Pulling down 158 rebounds and second in scoring was Amy Henneberger. Deena Mose was second in rebounds and steals and played very well all around.

Julie Rasmussen did a great job of covering the opponent's best ball handlers and shooters throughout the season. Coach Mayne commented that "The team was not a very tall team, but they compensated with atenacious full court pressing zone defense, which caused problems for opposing teams, and various second half comebacks." The team ended with a 13-7 season.

Indoor Track Teams

The 1979-1980 boy's indoor track team ended the season with a 3-1 record in tri-angular meets. The squad placed second in the co-ed relays and the Region II, B-C meet. The Warriors were 13th in the State B-C meet this year. During the season two new records were made. Wayne Lowery jumped 6'2" for the new indoor high jump record, and Mark Smith tied his record of 6.7 seconds in the 50 yard high hurdles. The boys shared their coach, Dwight Scott, with the girl's team as in past years. An all around great effort and a lot of work provided the team with a rewarding season.

Active Student Government Aides Students

The Student Council provided the school with many traditional as well as new activities this past year. The council, headed by President Laura Rasmussen, tried to motivate the student interest by trying some brand new ideas. All of the activities were successful.

During the first week of school the student council organized and held freshman orientation. The traditional homecoming activities were sponsored by the council. Spirit roared during the five day Spirit Week as students showed their school interest by participating in the various activities. A dance honoring the queen was held at the end of the week, and featured the band Long Time Comin'. Christmas greetings were shown during the Christmas decorating contest held by the council.

The month of February was the council's busiest month. Students and teachers volunteered to donate blood at the drive organized by council members. The students had an opportunity to participate in the administration of our school as well as showing gratitude to the faculty on Teacher Appreciation Day. A new and successful activity was the Computer Match. Finding out the ten people one was most compatible with was a fun experience.

A dance was held in honor of the seniors. Jeff Rasmussen was the disc jockey for the Bon Voyage which added a lot of fun to the evening.

Band Strives For Perfection

All the long, hard practices during the month of August and during the course of the year paid off for the 1979-1980 Boonsboro High School Band. The band participated in a wide variety of activities this year and all were successful.

To start off the year, the band marched down the streets of Frederick at the Fall Festival parade and captured the first title. The band gave an outstanding performance of their field show at the Showcase of Bands, as they performed in front of the packed South High Stadium. Mummers, clowns and decorated floats were the theme of the Mummers Parade in Hagerstown, but the Warrior band kept their military style and came home with second place. The band traveled to Chambersburg for the Christmas parade where they received first place for their talent.

In early March the band performed their annual Spring Concert. The concert was well accepted by the community as well as the special guests who attended. On April 20 of the school year, the band left for San Antonio, Texas. The band performed in the Battle of Flowers Festival and the Fiesta Flambeau parade. The trip was a success for our school and certainly an educational experience for the band members. Later in the year, the band performed for the community in the parades and Strawberry Festival to show their appreciation for such great community support.

Several Competitions

Several club members contribute to the meeting.

FFA members stand to take the club oath.

Involvement was the key word for the Future Farmers of America. The largest club in the school, supporting over 140 members, kept busy year round with shows, contests and activities.

Advisors Mr. Edward Mayne and Miss Susan Weimer accompanied large groups of members to the Harrisburg Farm Show, the Hagerstrown Farm Show, the Hagerstown Fair, where they presented an award winning booth, and to the Farm Bureau Convention. FFA members also participated in many school and community related projects. They produced the Food for America Program for the Boonsboro Elementary School Students, held a community farm show, and an Arbor Day program at the Elks Club.

The Livestock Team traveled to Springfield, Mass. for competition and placed second. In November, the Diary Products Team and several delegates traveled to Kansas City for the National Convention. The Dairy Products Team placed 9th and won a Silver Award. The Chapter won a Silver National Chapter Award.

To raise money for these numerous activities, the group sold over 2,000 cases of citrus fruit, FFA calendars, and greenhouse sales. As part of the organization, many members studied long hours for local, state, and national contests. This time was well spent as the group won many contests. However, this year was not all work and no play. They joined together for hours of fun during bowling and skating parties, the Chapter Banquet and dances.

Rainbow. . . A Burst Of Color

The Chieftain staff worked diligently on the 1980 yearbook. The staff, headed by editor-in-chief, Elizabeth Holmes, worked on displaying a rainbow of ideas. Many long hours were contributed toward the yearbook, and several staff members attended workshops on various phases of yearbook production. Advisor, Sharon Hoppes, helped the staff create a colorful mixture of activities as well as student and teacher involvement during her first year in that position. The gold at the end of this rainbow will be the memories treasured in this yearbook.

High School Teacher's Slaves!!

This year many BHS students were involved in the student aide program. They had an opportunity to help the faculty members of the elementary, middle and high schools.

In the past, the middle and elementary aides got most of the teaching opportunities and worked closely with the teachers. The high school aides did mostly office work, but this year more students were able to work with teachers by correcting papers and contributing some of their knowledge by helping certain groups during classes.

This program is a very educational experience and may help the students involved to pursue a career in education.

Chess Club Gains Popularity

Chess is the name of the game that the many members of the Chess Club played during club periods. Mr. Wayne Ridenour advised the large group. The cafeteria was filled with students playing, watching, or discussing the game. However, just learning the game was the main objective of the year.

Drama Club Sponsers Successful Tournament

Once again, the Drama Club sponsored a successful tournament of plays, giving the freshman, sophomores, and juniors the opportunity to display their acting abilities. The traditional spring musical was replaced by a stand-up concert of popular pieces and selections from various musicals. The Senior class play was to have been "The Miracle Worker", but it was cancelled due to insurmountable problems.

Chorus Presents

The Boonsboro High School Chorus sent several representatives to All-State Chorus in Baltimore on October 19. The prestigious group sang at the Maryland State Teachers' Convention. At the Veteran's Day Assembly in November, the chorus sang several patriotic tunes. The contribution was a very meaningful part of the assembly.

The opera Amahl and The Night Visitors was presented in the BHS auditorium during the Christmas season. The show was triple casted which allowed many students to be involved with this activity. Approximately one half of the participants in the All-County Chorus were members of the BHS chorus. The concert was held March 15 at the North Hagerstown High School.

The annual Boonsboro High School Spring Choral Concert was held May 14 in the auditorioum. The concert featured several soloists along with selections by the full chorus. The music of twentieth century composers was featured in this last choral production of the year.

More Students Participate In Intramurals

The Intramural Sports this year included basketball, soccer and volleyball. Interested players signed up with Coach Scott, Mr. Aversa, Mrs. Vaughn and Mrs. Piccolomini and were divided into teams which competed in a round robin fashion. The championship soccer and basketball games were played with the student body as spectators. This was the second year for intramural soccer which gave many students a chance to participate in intramural activities. Along with basketball and volleyball, it gave students a chance to get together with friends and learn more about these sports.

Build Warrior Spirit

The cheerleaders once again used their talents to build Warrior spirit. Long hours of practice and planning contributed to Homecoming activities, sales, pep rallies and camp. This summer the cheerleaders went to camp at Hood College in Frederick for four days. The squad proudly brought back a spirit stick and ribbons, showing that they were one of the most spirited groups there. During the summer, they fed the football players cokes and watermelon after their long practices, and they, too, practiced hard. Practice was held three times a week and when the school year started they worked twice a week and before games.

At pep assemblies, the cheerleaders showed their enthusiasm by performing snappy skits and gymnastic skills. The squad accomplished many things with the help of their advisor, Mrs. Rose Ulrich. This was Mrs. Ulrich's last season as cheerleader advisor.

Homecoming Highlights The Year!

Spectacular spirit, cascading colors and exciting activities made Homecoming the highlight of the year. The festivities were held the week of October 7 and lasted through the 12th. The organization and decoration, done by the cheerleaders and Student Government, combined with the participation of the students made the week very successful.

The spirit week activities began with selection of the Homecoming court by the senior class. The princesses were Bernadette Kaufmann, Carla Deener, Torri Marshall, Missy Sandy, and Lisa Turner. They were escorted by Eddie Penn, Jeff Martz, Mark Melcher, Carroll Holmes and Greg Castle, respectively.

Students showed spirit by picking up trash and wearing the colors of the teams previously defeated on Monday, conquered colors and clean-up day. The fashions of the "good old days" were worn on Tuesday, nostalgia day. Doing deeds for football players was also a part of the day's agenda. On Wednesday students wore football jerseys to show support for all football players. Students had difficulty hushing up to persuasive football players, especially Jim Root, who had 283 turnovers of student paper footballs. Formal fashions were the look on Thursday, dress-up day. Students bought carnations, sold by the Student Government, to offset their outfits. On Friday, Students donned their school colors, blue and white. Warrior buttons were sold during the week and worn along with letters earned by athletes.

Spirit peaked at the pep rally sixth period, Friday. The sophomores shouted their way to winning the Spirit Drum. The Spirit Stick was award to the freshman class for the most participation during the week. Cheers and chants were shouted to get the team psyched for the game. The rain and mud did not dampen spirits during the football game. Expectations of the fans were high at the start of the evening. The Warriors and the Railroaders slipped through the first half of the game, then finally in the fourth quarter the Warrior's Dale Beard kicked a field goal to win the game 3-0.

The climax of the evening developed during half time as the crowd anxiously waited for Dr. Newton to crown the queen. The band played the Alma Mater as he crowned Carla Deener 1979 Homecoming Queen.

After the game, a dance was held in honor of the queen and her court. Everyone danced to music of Long Time Comin'. This affair made an excellent end to the evening and to a memorable event-filled week.

Weather Cancels Talent Show

The Class of '81 worked steadily for many months preparing and polishing "The Thursday Night Live" show. The talent show was the climax of the junior class' fund-raising activities. Approximately seventy students worked with junior class advisor, Mrs. Pat Lemkuhl, during the successful show. Skits from popular television shows, singing, dancing and instrumentals were all a part of this funfilled variety show. The performance was held during school on January 24th. Due to snow and foul weather conditions a second performance was not possible and the prizes were not awarded. The juniors used their proceeds towards the Junior-Senior Prom, which they sponsored in May.

On May 9, the Venice Ballroom turned into a tropical paradise filled with palmtrees, exotic birds and a waterfall. The juniors, with the help of advisor, Mrs. Pat Lemkuhl, worked diligently for months preparing for this memorable evening. A buffet dinner was a part of the activity this year for the first time.

Sugar Cane was the featured band of the evening. Dancing to their music and socializing with friends was certainly a highlight of the event. Each senior was presented a gift by the junior class during the final Senior Promenade. As the band played strains of their class song, "Tuesday's Gone", the seniors walked out with their dates and prom memories that will last forever.
